Household Tip - Plumbing

The plumbing in your home will likely consist of plastic or copper piping for the supply of the potable water throughout the home and PVC plastic piping for the waste disposal.

A main water supply shut off has been provided to shut off the water supply to your home. This can be used in the event of an emergency and should be located upon occupancy for future reference. The waste lines have been provided with clean outs throughout the residence. These may be located within cabinets, inside closets or clearly visible on a wall surface. These clean outs must remain accessible as they are the means of access to the piping should a blockage occur.

P-traps are present at the outflow of all waste piping. These traps are designed to provide a barrier of water which prevents the entry of sewer gases into the home. Sinks or drains which are used infrequently may lose this water barrier due to evaporation. If sewer gases are detected, running water down the waste pipe will re-primed the trap and likely stop the odour.

Any waste materials, including grease, fat and petroleum products, should not be disposed of down the plumbing system. These materials will accumulate in the piping, especially in the P-traps, and can significantly reduce the flow of water through the waste systems and private septic systems.

Fitness Room Rules

Due to various concerns that have arisen regarding the use of the fitness room, the strata council would like to remind residents of the rules. A reminder that all equipment must be properly wiped down after being used to ensure the cleanliness of the machinery.

It is also important to keep in mind those living in close quarters of the fitness facility and to be sure to not drop heavy weights, or let them clang together. Your consideration in this matter is greatly appreciated!

Items from balconies

It has again been brought to the strata council's attention that some residents are throwing various items from their balconies, such as cigarette butts and garbage. This is very dangerous as any item thrown from a balcony can cause physical damage to persons and property. Please be considerate of your neighbours below.
